Closing Thoughts

- Floods can and will happen—anytime anywhere
- Political debate has never been hotter
- Impacts on homeowners continue to grow
- Accurate maps are very important
- Proper administration of the floodplain ordinances is an important duty in this process
- When you are riding in a time machine way far into the future, don't stick your elbows out the window, or it'll turn into a fossil (deep thoughts with Jack Handy, just seeing if you are still awake)
